City seeks legal help for "tower"

Bond counsel may enter picture at request of city attorney

By an unanimous vote the City Council on Monday night acted to keep the door open which will lead hopefully, to the eventual resolving of the 17-story civic center tower issue, one way or another.

At the conclusion of a three-hour public hearing, at which members of the audience took turns, (depending on what side they were on) commending or condemning the dramatic civic center tower proposal, the councilmen agreed to retain the city's bond counsel to do the legal work involved in the issue.

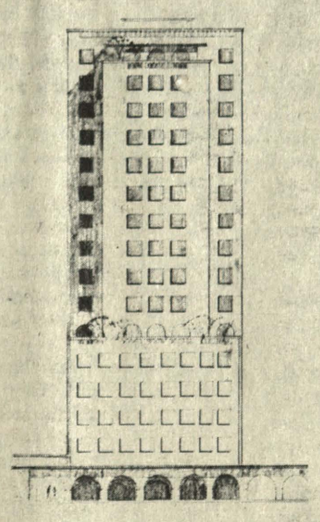
That is, provided the law firm, Orrick, Herrington, Rowley & Sutcliffe, of San Francisco, was willing and their "price" was practical.

The action of the council followed the recommendation made at the beginning of the hearing by City Attorney Joe Bonacina. He suggested that, because of the complexities of the situation and the present work load of his office, he felt that it was to the city's benefit that the city's bonding counsel should assume full legal responsibility.

Before the matter could be settled, Bonacina cautioned, there are a number of involved legal questions that would have to be answered.

A site requirement report from an independent agency as well as judicial determination stemming from a court case would also be necessary in his opinion, he said.

The hearing on Monday stemmed from the recommendation made by the Planning Commission last Thursday which favored the civic center tower proposal by a 5-2 vote over the old downtown core site.



The action of the Planning Commission was taken at the public hearing on public facilities and came at the end of eight hours of discussion on the two different dates. The original hearing had been continued after more than four hours of pro and con arguments, statements and recommendations from staff personnel and opinions expressed by the commissioners themselves.

Many of the same proponents and opponents, who were present at the two Planning Commission hearings on the civic center issue, were also present at Monday's City Council hearing which lasted for three hours.

CITY ATTORNEY

In his opening statement before the City Council, City Attorney Bonacina emphasized that he was not in legal contest with anyone; at no time had the developer (Fred Sahadi) been disrespectful to him; there was nothing "immoral or illegal" about the proposal; and no "element of hostility" was present at the Planning Commission hearing.

He emphasized that the commission had adhered to his advice and had only considered site and area and not any other aspects, especially the legal ones, of the situation. He urged the council to do likewise.

Councilman Ed Rogers said that it would be difficult to confine the discussion in that manner but Mayor Bill Smeed pointed out that the planning commission's action had apparently satisfied the city attorney.

Councilman Ralph Doetsch questioned if the issue had been presented to the Planning Commission properly.

Councilman Rogers got the first "hand" of the evening when he maintained that the issue should be referred to the people and should not be decided by just three or four councilmen.

Rogers added also that he had great confidence in the city attorney and did not think it was necessary to get additional counsel. Bonacina said he appreciated this show of confidence but it would be to the city's benefit to get other counsel.

City Manager Bob Stephens briefly reviewed the civic center issue touching on the background even as far back as 1960 when the master plan had recommended 4.66 acres be acquired for a site.

SAHADI SPEAKS

Sahadi, the developer whose large holdings within the city limits have made him the city's second largest tax payer, led off the discussion from the floor.

Sahadi, who acquired the 34-acre Brynteson Ranch property at Campbell and Bascom avenues in February of this year, made the sensational proposal in April that the civic center be housed in the first four or five floors of a 17-story tower that would be constructed on the property in a joint venture with Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., one of the major steel firms in the nation.

Sahadi compared the two civic center sites (downtown and the tower) and listed the advantages of the tower as far as access, tax base, point of identity and space were concerned. He added also that the present city hall site would be surplus property that could be used for any purpose the city might desire.

PROCESSION

Following Sahadi, a procession of pro and con citizens trooped to the microphone to state their feelings on the issue, the most exciting in the history of the town.

Mayor Smeed, as "moderator", attempted to have a "pro" followed at the mike by a "con" or vice versa. And his system seemed to work, for the crowd in the council chambers seemed close to being evenly divided in their sentiments, based on their applause.

Heading the group of opponents of the tower complex were members of the Downtown Revitalization Committee headed by John Faber, Los CHECKERS ANYONE?--Three pedestrian crossings in Campbell that are rated among the most hazardous in town were sporting a new and colorful crosswalk design this week. Originated by Ken Hickman, public works superintendent, cross-walks at Carlyn-Hamilton (Rosemary School), pictured, Virginia-Hacienda and Leigh-Sheffield, were given a yellow and black checkered treatment. The squares are 12-inches by 6-inches. Hickman explains that the sole purpose is to attract the attention of the motorist.

Campbell grows 1,150 since '65

Campbell's population is now estimated at 22,950, city officials were informed this week by the state Department of Finance. The estimate marks a gain of 1,150 in three years.

State subventions will be based on the new figure and at the current going rate of $15 per person, the hike in population could be worth $17,250 annually, according to the pencil-figurerers at the city hall.

Since 1965 the state has used the 21,800 figure, although in the county census taken in 1966, Campbell's population was listed at 21,221.

Thieves hit ball park

It may be strangely quiet on the field of Castro Jr. High where Pony League games are being played this summer.

It's one of those "meanest man" stories. This mean man, or boy, or group of meanies has taken the Campbell-Moreland Pony League's public address equipment.

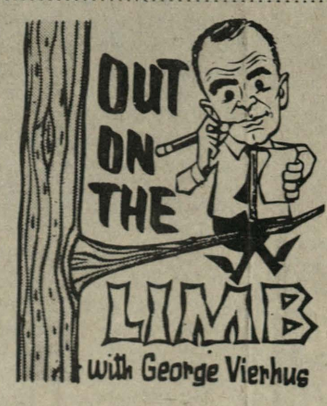
The theft wasn't easily accomplished. It took a little battering of the door of the league's shack on the field at Campbell Ave. and Castro Dr.

The "loot" was an estimated $300 in electronic equipment purchased by the participating boys and their parents through earnings at dances and candy sales and other fund raising events.

The league was looking forward to proudly showing off the equipment when the regional tournament takes place here August 6.

Pony League official, Joe Maniglia, who has two boys in the league, says he'll ask no questions, if the equipment is returned.

He asks any one who has information about the theft to call him at 378-2551.



IT IS DIFFICULT TO GET back to a normal routine after the traumatic experience this country has undergone with the assassination of the second Kennedy in a period of five years.

It took considerable effort on our part to even believe that the tragedy had taken place...We were so stunned and shocked that we had difficulty absorbing the facts. It seemed that it was all a bad dream and that we would soon wake up and find that it hadn't actually happened.

Then when we realized it had happened, that is, that Bobby Kennedy had been shot, we were convinced in our own mind that he would recover.

Surely it couldn't happen again, we kept telling ourself.

But it did happen.

And the Kennedy family again suffers...

It is a sad commentary on the political situation in this country that allows such violence to surface.

The snuffing out of the lives of two brothers, both national leaders, plus the killing of Dr. Martin Luther King, concerns us all.

What way are we going?

WE ARE WELL AWARE that leaders throughout the country have emphasized that a nation of 200 million people should not be condemned for the act of one demented person.

Still it should make all of us pause to reflect how these acts of violence can harm our country both directly and indirectly.

The loss of national leaders obviously are major setbacks. But, aside from that tragic part, the fact that our nation is known as a nation of violence is a liability that we will probably never overcome.

It is difficult for those of us who are proud of our country and its heritage to reconcile ourselves to the stark, naked truth that the killing of our leaders and mob violence in the streets of our cities has established an unenviable reputation.

We can recall that years ago it was popular to ridicule those countries, mainly in Latin America, in which leaders were regularly deposed.

Sometimes they were bumped off. But in many instances they went into exile peacefully without a shot being fired.

Smugly we would point out that those countries were not as mature as the good old USA...One more or less had to expect that kind of action.

You see, the people there in those countries just hadn't grown up, politically speaking.

And, of course, we in America had.

THE SECOND KENNEDY tragedy has re-emphasized the need for stricter federal gun control legislation.

We are not naive enough to believe that legislation may have stopped Bobby's assailant from getting a gun, if he really wanted one.

On the other hand, what if tough laws stop just one killer from killing?

Wouldn't that be worth all the efforts?

THE PRESS RECEIVED a few calls from people who felt so strongly on the question after the Kennedy killing, that they wanted this paper to urge everyone to write their congressman to request more strict laws.

Ironically, many were unaware that the House of Representatives was already in the process of passing a firearm control law.

One of the letters on the subject, by the way, appears in today's paper.

We have long felt that stricter gun control laws were necessary in this country.

And we felt that way even before the days of mob violence in the streets.

And, despite the aggressive campaign against such legislation conducted by the Na-

Site analysis

One of the most comprehensive reports in the discussion over the pros and cons of the proposed civic center tower as opposed to the old downtown site has been submitted by George Farrier, county librarian.

Based on the conclusions drawn from this report, Farrier has recommended that the library be located in the 17-story tower.

As part of the civic center complex, the city will build a library and then lease it to the county (county library district). In the successful bond issue passed last October, $400,000 was earmarked for the library. Because of the lease arrangements, the bonds will be paid back without any added tax to the citizens of this city.

Since the passage of the bond issue, an additional $200,000 has been specified as a federal grant and thus the library space has been increased accordingly.

In recommending the tower location for the library, the county librarian noted that there were many difficult problems inherent in the old downtown area which would be eliminated by going to the tower.

County Librarian Farrier emphasized that the lease executed between the county and city did not spell out any specific location and that the bond issue did not either.

In his analysis of the two locations, Farrier also assumed that all the legal and functional problems would be resolved and that the quality of the building materials used at both locations would be substantially equal.

The following is the analysis made by the county librarian in which he compares the "old downtown site" with the "Sahadi 17 story building" on a "plus and minus" basis covering 11 salient points:

OLD DOWNTOWN SITE	SAHADI 17-STORY BLDG.
LAND NEEDS
– One-half acre additional is needed to cover (1) the increase created because of the Federal grant, and (2) increased parking because it appears we could not be able to have joint use of the City Administration parking. The money to pay for this additional land would come from the $600,000 and would decrease the size of the library to about 20,000 square feet.	+ No additional land is needed to assure a full 24,000 square feet in the library for the same $600,000.
LAND COSTS
– The appraisals are for about $90,000 per acre for land located in a deteriorated area. This is a high cost for land among old buildings with no guarantee that there will be enough money for the library to be 20,000 square feet.	+ Included in the total project which guarantees a 24,000 square foot library in a completely new major shopping area.
PARKING
– Possible joint use with Campbell City Hall and Police Headquarters and Library would provide 60 spaces; or would need to buy more land for more spaces if joint use not available. Additional parking would be across a street if the loop proposal is adopted.	+ Joint use with Campbell City Hall and Police Headquarters on 2½ acres of land for parking plus cross easements for joint use of shopping center parking plus availability of adjacent seven acres of land under same ownership. Developer must conform to City parking requirements for upper 12 floors and for shopping center. Has 20 acres.
COMPATIBILITY OF LAND
– Mixed use of older commercial buildings, high and medium density older residential buildings all needing repair and improvement.	+ Vacant 30 acres on which will be built the 17-story building and a new specialty shopping center in an early California style.
ACCESSIBILITY
– On a side street off of Campbell Avenue which is a narrow heavily congested street with much through traffic. Improvement of Campbell Avenue and a complete "loop" proposal has been made requiring a 1972 election for a bond issue of over $2 million. This would require a 2/3 majority of all Campbell voters for the improvement of a small section of the city.	+ On well traveled Campbell Avenue east of adjacent Highway 17 with widening of this section of Campbell Avenue paid in the total project. Excellent access from Bascom Avenue and Union Avenue. An off ramp and on ramp to Highway 17 has been proposed.
LOCATION
+ Nearer center of Campbell so that people on West side would travel less distance to library.	– On easterly side of Campbell requiring library users on West side to travel farther.
BUSINESS ECONOMICS
– The commercial aspects of this area will give way to a service activity type which will require much private capital to develop or an urban renewal program. Very little sales tax money will be realized and the assessed valuation will not rise greatly.	+ Now zoned commercial and when developed is expected to generate about $25 million business annually which will greatly increase the sales tax revenue to the city and the assessed valuation.
EXPANSION
– The 24,000 square feet in this building would be sufficient for many years and probably should not be added to. Instead a smaller community library should be added in the San Tomas area when it is sufficiently populated to require a library, possibly earlier - about 1972 - because of the more easterly location of this center.	+ The 20,000 square feet in this building would be sufficient for many years and probably should not be added to. Instead a smaller community library should be added in the San Tomas area when it is sufficiently populated to require a library.
IDENTITY
– A new building located among many older buildings (exception - new City Hall) with limited chance for upgrading because of the high cost of land making it uneconomical for private enterprise to redevelop an area of small improved parcels.	+ A 17 story building located in a major shopping center gives a point of identity over an area much more extensive than Campbell. The library, with 10,000 square feet on the first floor and occupying all of the second and third floors of this building, would afford a place of prominence that would be very beneficial to the users.
LIBRARY FLOOR PLANS
+ This would be a two story building, i.e., either a main floor and a lower level floor or a main floor and a second story. The main floor of 12,000 square feet would house the public service units, work rooms, office, public lavatories. The lower floor or second floor would house the less frequently used library, materials, staff quarters, storage. Satisfactory floor plans would be developed.	+ The main floor of 10,000 square feet would house the public service and closely related units. The second and third floors would house workrooms, offices, public lavatories, staff quarters, less frequently used materials, storage. There would be only a very small loss in efficiency if any. Satisfactory floor plans would be developed.
PUBLIC USE
– Because of the location as described above, most of the public would come on a special trip to use the library with very little chance of a one stop-several errands basis.	+ Because of the combination with a major shopping center, many of the public would come on a combination library-shopping trip which I have found increases the service to the public.

tional Rifle Association and other similar organizations, we have not changed our mind.

We think it is entirely wrong for an individual to be allowed to walk into a store and buy any old gun he feels like.

Or, for that matter, be allowed to order a gun by mail.

We believe it is ridiculous to place lethal weapons in the hand of irresponsible people any time.

And, if such an activity can be curtailed in even the slightest degree by legislation, we are all for it.

OFFICIALLY THE CURtain dropped last Thursday on the first act of the exciting local production entitled, "The Case of Campbell's Tower".

Members of the Planning Commission had the leading roles in the first act...assisted, of course, by "bit players" in the audience and from the city staff.

Whatever your personal feelings may be on "the tower" issue, or whatever the end result will be, it must be conceded that it is probably the most exciting issue that this community has faced.

DIFFERENCES OF OPINion, it is said, cause horse races and also makes the world go 'round.

But it is important that these "differences" are held in check.

We mean that the emotional disturbances, upsets and outbursts caused by the "differences" can leave lasting scars on a community, unless a definite effort is made by all concerned to keep their perspective.

A case in point, of course, is the highly dramatic civic center "tower" issue.

We are well aware that tempers are going to flare. Charges and counter charges will be made in the heat of battle.

But that is the human element. Nothing we can say will change it.

But despite the heated exchanges that are bound to arise, we still have the hope that the citizens of this community will keep their feet on the ground, collectively and individually.

That is what we mean by keeping our perspective....

Or maybe we mean keeping our sense of humor...which could mean almost the same thing.

-0-

HAVING A SOUND SENSE of humor which allows for a chuckle ,often at one's own expense, sometimes breaks the ice or tension at the most crucial moments...

We thought of that the other night when Planning Commission Jack Healey made the motion to approve the civic center tower concept.

He prefaced his motion, which was the culmination of almost eight hours of discussion on two different nights, with this understatement of the situation: "Obviously a difference of opinion does exist...."

That sort of broke the tension.

Both opponents and proponents in the audience joined in the loud guffaws....

Another example showing the importance of keeping one's sense of humor was when Commissioner Kel Young accused your editor of "snickering" at one of the charges made by Kel, a vigorous opponent of the civic center tower concept.

We don't recall "snickering."

But that's not important.

The real point is that Kel and your editor were able to kid each other good naturedly about it after the meeting.

Kel claimed our "snickering" took place when he had complained orally of the inconveniences that a multi-story complex would cause those who used the library and the city hall.

We might have grinned or maybe "snickered". But it was not at Kel.

We were trying to envision that one-story limitation of Kel's applied to ALL public facilities the world over...Instead of elevators, roller skates would be needed.

And there wouldn't be any land for any other use.

City may get legal assistance from bond counsel on tower

Gatos-Campbell mortician, and long-time chairman of the downtown committee that was originally formed in 1960.

Faber emphasized that many surveys had been taken all emphasizing the need for the civic center being an anchor for the downtown. He maintained that an attractively designed civic center downtown would stimulate the development.

Because of his profession, he gained a laugh from the crowd when he concluded by emphasizing that if the civic center was moved then all that was left to do was to put up a "rest-in-peace" plaque; have a cremation service for all the paperwork and the surveys that had been done over the years; and hold a memorial service for those who had worked so hard for the downtown.

Two downtown businessmen and members of Faber's committee, took the mike in opposition to Faber, emphasizing that they felt that the civic center tower would benefit the downtown more than any other project ever presented in this city's history.

BANKER SPEAKS

Don Kennedy, Bank of America manager, a director of the Chamber of Commerce and an active member of the downtown group, said he was speaking not for the B of A but as a local businessman. He said he recommended the Sahadi proposal because it would benefit the city as a whole.

Dick Bicker, owner of the Campbell Rock Shop, emphasized the additional tax revenue that the tower and center at Bascom and Campbell avenues would bring to the city. The additional revenue could be used to benefit all areas of the city, he point out.

He emphasized that the Sahadi proposal was a fair business proposal made to the city and should be considered as such. He added also that, although the down town civic center would not hurt anything, it would not help the area as much as the tower concept.

Taking the opposite view was Tony Raffanti, a local businessman since 1935. Raffanti said he had a large investment in the downtown area (almost an entire block). He had supported improvement projects for the downtown area but thus far the city had not helped in any way.

All improvements in that area had been made by private capital. He felt that the civic center was necessary to the downtown survival. He claimed also that, in his opinion, the people in the bond election had voted for the downtown civic center site.

ROSE OPPOSES

Former City Councilman Charles Rose took the mike to state that he was opposed to the civic center in any other location but the downtown area.

He took considerable time to trace the development of Los Gatos in recent years and compared that city's situation with Campbell's. He also added that the improvements made on the street so far in Campbell were done without any help from the city.

Others speaking in opposition to the tower included former City Councilman Bob McElroy, Mitchell Zawalski, George Green, Don Hebard and Al Turoya.

DALZELL SPEAKS

Bob Dalzell, former Jaycee president and former member of the citizens executive committee member in the bond campaign last year, spoke in favor of the tower. He claimed that it was the moral obligation of the city government to give the citizens the best for their money.

He said that the so-called loop system that would provide access to the downtown civic center site could not possibly be built until seven or eight years. Thus the city would be wasting its money in the meantime.

Dr. Corwin Olds, retired pastor of the Campbell Congregational Church, commended the public hearing procedure and cautioned city officials to be open-minded and suggested that if the civic center sketch for the downtown area was used in the bond campaign there could be a moral obligation involved.

Mayor Smeed read a letter from Mrs. W.R. (Evelyn) Morgan, in which the writer described the Sahadi proposal as a dream that could come true.

Lowell Grattan, C of C director emphasized the dollar value to the city by the tower. The present site would be a bonus, he said.

PLANNERS

Interested spectators in the audience were three members of the Planning Commission, Dale Scott, Thayer Lyons and Kel Young.

Commissioners Scott, Lyons, Jack Healey, Ed Pack and Frank Klein in the vote last Thursday that "officially" started the city's action favored the civic center tower concept.

Commissioners Merrill Grim and Young favored the downtown site.

Both Scott and Lyons took the floor on Monday at the council meeting to clarify different points that had arisen during the evening.

Lyons took exception to a statement made by McElroy about what "allegedly" occurred at the commission's hearing. Lyons explained that he was there and the minutes did not show what McElroy had said took place.

Scott took the floor to defend County Librarian George Farrier who had been criticized by Councilman Rogers for not keeping the council fully informed about developments on the library front.

The next move by the city will depend on whether the bond counsel will accept the assignment that will be offered and what this eminent law firm will come up with.

From then on it is anybody's guess.

However, the civic center tower issue will be around for awhile, as City Attorney Bonacina has pointed out....the door he said which had really never been closed altogether, legally, had now been opened considerably.

Runoffs will feature county races in November election

Although the assassination of Sen. Robert Kennedy shunted everything else concerning the primary election on June 4 to the background, the results of the election made a far-reaching impact on both the county and state levels.

The delegation pledged to the late Sen. Kennedy carried the state as well as the county However, U.S. Senator Thomas Kuchel, who was thwarted in his statewide bid for nomination by the Republicans by Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction carried the county.

That also was the case in the majority of the counties in the state, except in Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange Rafferty will face Alan Cranston, former state controller, in November. Cranston easily won the DEM. nomination.

Congressman Charles Gubser easily won the GOP nomination for the 10th district and will face Grayson Taketa in November.

Voters in the county repealed the $10 license fee method for financing the county expressway program.

The proposal was on the ballot in such a manner that a "no" vote favored the fee while a "yes" vote repealed it. The vote was 142,559 in favor of repeal to 111,697 against.

A runoff will be necessary in the second supervisorial district which extends into Campbell on the eastside. Supervisor Sam Della Maggiore, long-time in office, faces Dominic L. Cortese. Della Maggiore collected 17,016 votes and Cortese 12,045. There will also be runoffs in the fifth and third districts.

A runoff will also be necessary in the superior court race with James B. Scott and Paul R. Tielh, both municipal judges, fighting it out. Scott led the five-man race with 92,881 votes to 68,675 for Tielh.

Assemblyman Earle P. Crandall, the GOP incumbent, will face Democrat Marc Poche of Campbell in the November election in the 25th district while Assemblyman John Vasconcellos will meet John Dorwin, the GOP nominee in the 24th.

In the 13th district state senate race, William R. (Bill) Bradley defeated Mrs. Virginia Shaffer, San Jose city councilwoman, for the Republican nomination and will meet incumbent Senator Al Alquist in November.

In the second district of the Santa Clara County Flood Control and Water District, Edmond A. Mirassou topped the incumbent, Victor F. Corsiglia, Sr. in the voting and the two face a runoff in November.

City Council begins annual budget sessions

Campbell City Council on Monday night held a routine public hearing on the preliminary budget and then voted to hold the first of a series of budget study sessions on Saturday, June 15, at 1:30 p.m.

The Council on Saturday will schedule other sessions. The operating budget will probably be adopted on June 26.

The final budget will not be adopted until August when the assessed valuation will be announced and the tax rate set.

In another action, the City Council turned down the application for a lot split submitted by Joseph Giannini for property on S. Bascom Ave. where the new Sherwin-Williams Paint Co. facility is under construction.

Councilmen felt that the lot split would create access problems for the rear portion which would front only on a 25-foot easement.

The Council also approved the agreement for the employment of Castellanos Associates as this city's acquisition agent.

Filed with City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan was the petition with 86 names submitted to the City Council by James Faeger, of 1586 Adrian, opposing the regional form of government of ABAG.

The council disallowed the claim of Mrs. Lillian Grim for $50,000 and referred it to the city attorney and insurance carrier. Mrs. Grim was injured in a train accident while walking. The accident occurred at the crossing on Campbell Ave.

The council also directed city staff to follow through on the complaints made by Jack Craig and Cal Falcon against Bob's Body Shop in the industrial area.

Board names new directors

Lowell Grattan, local developer, a director-at-large of the Campbell C of C serving for a year, has been appointed by the board to fill the unexpired term of Lee Sicard, of Pacific Telephone, who resigned because of his transfer.

Sicard was elected to a two year term last December.

Miles Tully, who recently acquired Campbell Office Machines in the Kirkwood Plaza, was elected to succeed Grattan as a director-at-large.

ABOUT DREAMS

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter which was submitted to the City Council, by Mrs. Evelyn Morgan, describes the proposed civic center tower as a dream that can be realized. We thought you would be interested in her thoughts on the subject. –G.V.

TO THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CAMPBELL:

Dear Sirs:

Lately, I have had to live quietly and not take part in community activities to any extent. However, I do have a lot of time to sit and think about what is going on.

Tonight, you are beginning to "officially think" about a tremendous decision you must make now, or in the near future.

Over 100 years ago a man by the name of Campbell settled here. Right on main street in the middle of what is now our town. He crossed the plains in a covered wagon. He had some sort of a dream. We don't really know what, but he must have had a dream and Courage.

Over 100 years ago, another man by the name of Breuner came to San Francisco. He had a dream. We have seen how that dream expanded all over California. Lately, his descendants and the corporation, hired another man with a pencil and figures, and they decided to build a store on "17" and Hamilton Avenue, and that store last year sold more than 6 million dollars worth of dreams for individuals.

Another man by the name of Brynteson came to Campbell. He planted a fine pear orchard and has been harvesting the dollars and taking them back to Sweden.

Lately, still another man has come to Campbell. He has a dream too. His name is Fred Sahadi. He is offering to make Campbell a part of his dream. Or, visa versa, which ever way you wish to make it. This dream is as fantastic as the man's dream who crossed the plains in a covered wagon, or the man who built the furniture empire. Of course, he is going to make money, so will Campbell.

I suggest you not spend too much time thinking about owning the Tower 50 years from now, none of us will be around then. I predict, this Tower on "17" will be only one of many towers in Campbell in 50 years.

Gentlemen, are you hearing that song–The Impossible Dream? Well, start humming it now, you can say "WE CAN!"

Do you know, from the "top of that Tower, you will be able to see "forever"?

Sincerely,
Evelyn G. Morgan
(Mrs. Wyland R.)

P.S. We have a smart legal department. Mr. Bonacina will know how to protect the legal interests of the town.

Students must furnish their own instruments but the $17.50 enrollment fee includes class instruction, books and sheet music and transportation to and from Campbell Elementary school.

Classes which start July 1 are from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

During the five week period which concludes on Thursday evening, August 1, the students will be under the direction of instructors chosen to teach in the program and are highly specialized in the field of instrumental education, including Ed Tonini, Wally Johnson, Don Bryant, Joe Cathy, Bill Autry and Gilda Mazzanti.

Folk singing, in chorus, will also be held. Registration deadline is June 21. As one of the highlights of the program on July 24, students will have the opportunity to attend the Ice Follies of 1968 for only $2 which includes transportation in a supervised group.

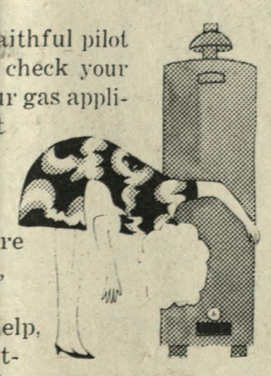
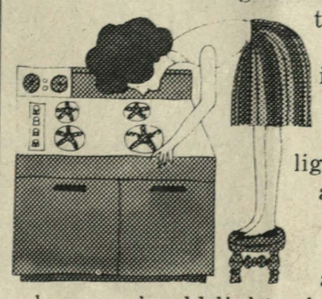
How to warm up a cold pilot.



Even the most faithful pilot light can go out. So check your pilot first if one of your gas appliances or furnace isn't operating.

Most gas ranges have more than one pilot. If you're not sure where they're located, consult your owner's manual. (If you need help, call us.) Before relighting a pilot, be sure all burners are turned off. Allow a few minutes for the air to clear, then touch a lighted match to the pilot opening. The pilot should light with a small, blue flame, and the burner should light when you turn it on. If the burner fails to light, call us. We'll send a man out to check it.

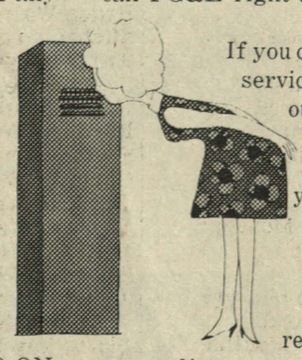


Modern gas water heaters and dryers shut off completely if the pilot goes out. And most models bear manufacturer instructions for relighting. If you can't get the appliance operating, call us or the installer.

If the pilot of any gas heater or furnace goes out, TURN OFF THE MAIN BURNER VALVE FIRST. Allow ten or fifteen minutes for any accumulation of gas to clear before relighting pilot (following the instructions on the equipment). With the pilot relighted, the furnace or heater should operate. If it won't, call us.

PILOTS NEEDN'T GO ON VACATION. Some folks prefer to shut off furnaces and water heaters during the summer or vacations. However, it's more convenient to turn off the main burner, but not the pilot. When the pilot is lighted, your furnace is ready to work on a cold day. Most hot water heaters can be turned to "PILOT" when not in use. This keeps the pilot lighted and prevents the main burner from heating water.

WARNING: Never look for a gas leak with a lighted match or candle. If you suspect a gas leak, call PG&E right away and we'll check it.



If you call for a PG&E service man to check out a gas leak or an appliance, have him show you where your pilots are, and how to relight them. If an appliance needs repairs or parts, an appliance man, plumber, or furnace man should be called.

P.S. With six rate reductions in gas and electric rates in the last five years, PG&E service is a bigger family bargain than ever. PG and E

Saratoga campus officially becomes West Valley College

The Saratoga campus of West Valley College has officially been designated as "West Valley College" by the Board of Trustees. Other names were offered by board members before the official action.

Mrs. Mildred Wharton suggested "College of Saratoga" and Robert W. Brydon suggested "West Valley College (Saratoga Campus)", Mrs. Wharton countering with "West Valley College at Saratoga" in the manner of the University of California designations of its various campuses.

Action on a name was necessary, the Board was told by Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college president, because, with the completion of the Engineering-Technology Building scheduled for August 15, and with other buildings now under way, it is necessary to start placing directional signs on the campus.

The Board adopted the tentative $6,660,887 budget for the 1968-69 school year for transmittal to the County Superintendent of Schools.

Prior to its adoption, the Board heard a plea from teaching representatives for salary increases beyond the proposals made in the budget or recommended by the Superintendent.

In adopting the tentative budget, the Board members indicated that it would be further scrutinized during July and up to the time of its final adoption the first week in August.

It also accepted, with regret, the resignation of Dr. Albert J. Riendeau, Dean of Vocational-Technical Education, and an acknowledged leader in his field, who has accepted a position in the area of Vocational Education with the U.S. Office of Education in Washington, D.C.

The Board appointed Robert J. Smith as Dean of Student Activities, replacing Calvin L. Bell, who has resigned to accept a position at Fresno City College.

Also appointed was Mrs. Mary Jean Van Peborgh as Director of Women's Activities, replacing Miss Jan Winton who will assume full-time counseling duties during the school year.

The Board requested the Advisory Committee to carry on a comprehensive study on a proposed bond issue for completion of the college's capital improvement program, to include:

a. A determination of the capital facility needs of the district over the next five or six years.

b. An estimated cost of these needs.

c. The amount of the bond issue.

d. The timing of the bond issue.

e. A determination of the most effective means of securing the support requisite to the acceptance of the proposed bond issue by the electorate.

f. Such other matters having a bearing upon and relating to the subject.

YMCA offers girls camping

For the first time in several years, the Metropolitan YMCA of San Jose and the Santa Clara Valley is offering a week-long camping session for girls 9 to 12.

Young ladies in the Campbell area can sign up for the June 29-July 6 session at either the Southwest Branch headquarters, 16500 Mozart Ave., Los Gatos, or the Metro "Y" offices at 1190 Emory St., San Jose. It will be conducted at the resident Camp Campbell on the San Lorenzo River in Santa Cruz County.

The session offers the full range of activities for the girls including, hiking, boating, swimming instruction, archery, riflery, cookouts, overnights, crafts, campfire programs and daily non-denominational chapel services.

The session has room for 150 girls and registration will continue until it is full. Girls stay in cabins, with eight youngsters and a counselor assigned to each.

For further information about the camp and fees call 298-1717, ext. 38.

Elementary schools to graduate 1688

Castro Jr. High School in the Moreland School District, will present diplomas to 515 graduates Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the amphitheater.

Giving the welcoming address will be Byron Cross, assistant superintendent of schools. During the evening 54 students will be presented with honor certificates for outstanding work.

Valedictorian Ken Heller will give the valedictory address; Neil Fliger, student body president, first semester - the invocation and Larry Kubo, president second semester, will also speak.

Campbell Union (elementary) District schools will present diplomas to 1173 eighth grade students. No special ceremonies are planned for the eighth graders in keeping with the district policy.

BOLADO HORSE SHOW

Many Santa Clara County residents will undoubtedly be heading for Bolado Park, Tres Pinos this coming week-end for the 35th annual San Benito County Saddle Horse Show and Rodeo.

Summer reading club sign-ups now at library

The Santa Clara County Free Library, Campbell branch summer reading club will be off to a flying start June 17 with sign-ups now being taken at the Campbell Library, 349 E. Campbell Ave., according to Mrs. Joyce Vinson, childrens librarian.

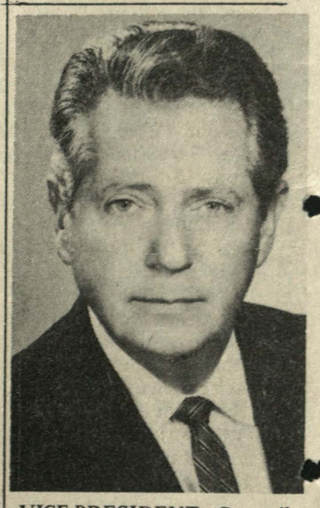
Over 100 children participated in last years program, and more are expected to sign up this year. The reading club dates are from June 17 to August 10.

Sign-up instructions for the children are: read one book or more during vacation, return it to the library and ask for your Reading Club folder. Enter the name of the author and title in the folder for each book read. A star will be placed beside the titles of books read from the special reading club list for each grade.

Ten or more books and the participant is awarded a reading club certificate to be given at a program held during the week of August 19. The librarian will be glad to help the children select books.

Another feature of the library summer program will be the children's story hours which will start June 26 at the Campbell Library, according to Mrs. Vinson. Every Wednesday at 10 a.m. a story hour will be conducted by Mrs. Vinson for school age children.

The story hour program will be conducted through July 31. Additional information may be obtained at the library.



VICE-PRESIDENT-- Councilman Edward J. Rogers, who served as mayor last year and was elected to his third term on the Campbell City Council in April, has been elected vice-president of the Inter-City Council.

The Inter-City Council represents all 15 cities of the county. Rogers is scheduled to move up to the presidency next year.

Honor students were recognized and awarded at an assembly last Tuesday. The National Merrit Scholarship Qualifying students are Hank Oltman, Tim Sapp, Dave Van Vactor, Jim VonHerman and Beth Wilderman. Tim Sapp was also awarded the Gemco Scholarship in which he placed first.

For the first time in the history of The Foreign Exchange Club it is awarding a scholarship for the student chosen to go to a foreign country for Youth For Understanding. The scholarship for $300 will go to Susan Hanks. Susan will go to Germany for two months this summer.

Junior Janie Wong was chosen as Campbell's representative to Girls' State this summer. There is no Boys' State representative from Campbell as it is too crowded for all the schools to send a boy every year.

Don Bradley was chosen as the most outstanding cadet this year. Don achieved success in his attendance and work.

Speech and Debate also had some awards to give. Chosen as the Top Debators at Campbell as well as in Northern California are Tim Sapp and John Brydon. They placed third in state and will be going to St. Paul, Minnesota after school is out to compete.

The Lions' Club is sponsoring the Campbell Drum Major for next year, Perry Rogers, who is to attend drum major camp this summer. He received $65.

The American Foundation Award which includes a $200 scholarship to the Music School in Boston was awarded to the outstanding saxophone player, Jim Von Herman. This award was given to the best jazz player. Also in music was the Arian award given to Marty Lico for his work as a good musician, his attendance and his inspiration. The most outstanding musician in the band was voted by the band members themselves. The John Phillip Souza award was given to this year's drum major John Brydon.

The Arian award in orchestra was given to Dale Ammerman. In choir it was awarded to Fran Acken. The National School Orchestra Award was given to Kathy Neece, and in choir to Chuck Mork.

The results of Rally Day were reported at that assembly also. The graduating class of 1968 won the rally day competition but the junior class of 1969 won all around spirit trophy for 1968. The junior class president, George Akina accepted the award for the class. Mark Robinson senior class president received the Rally Day trophy.

The Ralph Nodder Award was given by Coach Augenstein to the most outstanding athlete of 1968. For his outstanding effort in football, basketball and baseball, Chuck Hawthorne was honored.

To end the assembly the yearbook was dedicated to junior class counselor Winston Miller. This was announced by past President Tim Sapp.

Graduation is coming and students are ready for a great summer.

Camden Capers

By Caren Daniels

Tomorrow is the big day for the class of '68, as well as for the underclassmen. For freshmen, sophomores and juniors, it marks the end of the school year, and a free summer ahead. For seniors, it marks the end of a phase of like, and the doorway opening to a new world. Thursday night, at 6 p.m., the inner quadrangle will be filled with guests as the graduates march through flower-covered arches to begin the graduation exercises.

Clad in navy blue robes and caps, 337 graduates will receive their diplomas and listen to speeches from well-wishers. This year's valedictorians are Kirk Cunningham and Michele Wilkie, both CSF sealbearers, who will deliver words of wisdom to all present.

Camden's choir and orchestra will be providing the musical atmosphere, with all seniors joining in the closing as they sing Camden's Alma Mater.

After all the tears are dried, graduates will "put on happy faces" as they attend the all night commencement party. Sponsored by parents of the '68'ers, the event will be held at Frontier Village from 10:30 p.m. to 5 a.m. Dinner and breakfast will both be served, while continuous dancing and rides will provide the entertainment. On the bandstand will be "The Chosen Few" and "The Black List". Numerous rides are included in the $9.50 ticket, ranging from the sidewinder and ferris wheel to the lost frontier mine and the antique autos.

Seniors were the featured students on campus Friday, June 7, as they dressed in their casual attire and came to school for Senior Grub Day. Few restrictions were put upon the classmen, with good taste being the rule.

Baccalaureate practice during second and third periods was made a bit more comfortable, and the day proved to be an honor to the class of 1968.

Two final issues of the school newspaper were distributed this week. The last edition of Cougars' Tales was given out on Monday, having been mimeographed by the journalists instead of the district printer, due to insufficient printing time.

Today the compiled list of senior wills was distributed to the entire student body. The 10-page newspaper took weeks to compose and type, but provided a bit of amusement to all who read it.

******

The end of the year brings more sadness to the students at Camden as it marks the termination of stay of the three foreign exchange students. Bidding adieu in just two weeks is Maria Fernanda Mendoza from Uruquay, who has spent the past six months here under the Youth For Understanding program. Leaving in July after a year's visit are Maria Hjelmgvist from Sweden, and Joe Mugdan from Germany, also YFU students.

The Cougar baseball team played its final two games of the season last week as they competed in the CCS tournament. Under the coaching of Charles Platt, the team ended up in third place at the finals. Friday's game proved an upset as the Santa Cruz Cardinals inched their way ahead with a 3-2 victory over Camden. Solid doubles by John Edwards, catcher, and Lew Gasper, shortstop, failed to provide the necessary runs to take the lead. Lynn Langfeldt covered the mound duties until the fifth inning, when Sophomore Phil Lind took over to complete the game.

The loss put the Cougars in a match for third place in a game on Saturday, played against Bellarmine. Rich Troedson was credited with the win over the Bells, with a final score of 13-1.

St. Lucy's team wins softball championship

St. Lucy's softball team took the parochial league championship trophy home Tuesday by tromping St. Christopher 26-1, at the playoff held in the Willow Street park. Eight runs were brought in in one inning.

Mike Budalich pitched a three hitter game with Donald Burr bringing in one home run and Art Ferraro hitting a grand slam with four home.

The St. Lucy's team was coached by Dennis Craig. During the 12 game season the smooth working team played 12 games losing one.

B.A. DEGREE

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

Crime, violence, and lawlessness have always been major concerns of all Americans. But in the light of another tragic assassination, the almost simultaneous murder of two Marine Corps officers by men recruited in San Jose to participate in the Poor People's Campaign, and 80 additional homicides in Washington, D.C., since January 1, the Congress was spurred into acting with a sense of urgency. The crime bill, snarled in a parliamentary tangle woven by those who wished to kill it, overwhelmingly passed the House!

The bill will greatly strengthen the hand of law enforcement officers in their losing battle against lawlessness. It features a program of bloc federal grants to help states and local communities improve law enforcement, control riots, and recruit and train policement. The National Institute of Law Enforcement was granted funds by the bill, and the FBI's training program for state and local law enforcement officers was expanded.

Another section of the bill was a major step toward controlling the misuse of firearms. It bans the interstate mail order sales of revolvers and pistols as well as over-the-counter sales of hand weapons to minors and out-of-state purchasers. The new law forbids possession of firearms of any kind by a felon, mental incompetent, and certain other persons.

A major provision of the new law will remove some of the hindrances the Supreme Court has imposed on law enforcement officers. The rules in the famous Mallory, Escobido, and Wade decisions, which have made it impossible for police officers to properly question an obvious criminal or to use his freely-given confession, were overturned.

These decisions have hindered police officers in much the same manner as Chief Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes envisioned 64 years ago when he said: "At the present time in this country there is more danger that criminals will escape justice than that they will be subjected to tyranny."

A few objected and pleaded that Congress had no right to curb the Supreme Court. However, in the Miranda decision the Court practically issued an invitation to Congress to legislate in the field. Furthermore, Article III, Section 2 of the Constitution says: "...The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

Some consider the wiretapping provisions of the new law as an unconstitutional invasion of privacy. But no permit can be issued except under a court order and all other "bugging" is prohibited unless the national security is involved. The law protects privacy when it deserves protection and, furthermore, it clears up what is now a muddled area of the law.

In my opinion the House of Representatives acted wisely when it gave prompt approval to this bill. Every provision added by the Senate had been thoroughly considered by the appropriate committee in the House when it was passed ten months ago. The only difference between now and then is that the national sickness of crime and violence has reached the acute stage and stronger medicine is necessary. Every citizen is entitled to protection of his person and his property and a government which does not provide it is not a government at all. Government without law and its enforcement is little more than anarchy.

Letters to the Editor

GOOD CITIZENS

Dear Mr. Editor,

On this tragic day (June 5) I find I can no longer sit and read others voice their complaints. I feel by writing I am at least letting you know I am not dormant. I wrote to Mr. Gubser asking for assistance in passing the fire arms act. My friends wrote letters also.

It may seem a trivial thing at this moment, but Mrs. Cook said everything and more that I feel. I went to Campbell High graduated, and now have four children. In all the 15 years you have but one park. That is outside of the one the Kiwanis Club donated and maintain. If there are more tell me, I am not aware of this.

At this time, Mr. Editor, you could devote more time to see that our future Campbellites will grow up with a wholesome surrounding. Instead of telling me how great our second biggest taxpayer is. Which I am sure he is, but he has made his fortune, have our children?

Is there a recreation center where our teenagers can go on summer nights to play ping pong or have a dance?

Do you have a swimming facility where all can go and enjoy a swim? Is there a councilor who can devote their time to a troubled child?

If there is, I stand corrected. I could say much more about taxes, councilmen, etc., but I feel this is a start. I admit it is small. You as an Editor could outline some suggestions on how to be a good Campbell Citizen.

Thank you,
Mrs. H. R.Warner

GUN CONTROLS

To the Editor:

As citizens and voters the people of the United States elect at regular intervals their choice of the men to represent them in matters of legislation and policy.

These elected officials are the direct representatives of the people and should reflect the will of the majority in their votes on critical matters placed before them. In order to correctly interpret the will of the majority, however, it is necessary that they be contacted by the people and hear their views.

This is the responsibility of the individual voter and groups to which he belongs. If he wishes to protect himself from undesirable legislation or if he wishes to see desirable legislation passed, he must contact his elected representative and make his views known.

I personally have never before exercised this 'power of the people', but I feel compelled, in view of recent events, to state one individual's opinion.

In the immediate aftermath of the shooting of Senator Kennedy, chaos, confusion and mis-information reigned. The radio stations issued conflicting stories, noted persons were quoted saying two entirely opposite statements, TV news announcers weren't entirely sure that the piece of information they were relaying wasn't just a rumor and nobody seemed really sure of anything.

One network's news announcer (ABC) which I watched from about 1 a.m. until about 6 a.m. seemed to have given up all hope of ever being able to relay the proper information and so spent the time instead 'Editorializing' his views on gun control legislation and condemning the elected representatives of the people for their lack of action in not passing strict gun-control laws. He seemed to think that somehow this would be the 'Magic Elixer' that would cure all our ills. His comments about "certain lobby groups" with special interests made the NRA and other sportsmens and gun clubs look like a branch office of the Mafia.

It is for this reason that I write. In times of crisis people are often susceptible to arguments which on their face value seem to make sense, but after thinking them over a bit realize that this is not the solution. All pistols purchased in the state of California must be registered. The gun used to shoot Senator Kennedy was not registered to the assailant. Did the fact that the original purchaser of that weapon registered it at the time of purchase help in any way to prevent the disaster that befell Senator Kennedy?

Not in the least. Had the gun been reported as sold to someone else it might have helped to identify the assailant, but it is doubtful that it would have prevented the crime. Rifles, shotguns and knives are not subject to any type of registration, and this is as it should be. To identify every owner of a hunting weapon in the United States would be a violation of the individual's Constitutional right to keep and bear arms. To register every kitchen knife would be ridiculous. And would it help if you did? Not very likely.

The criminal element and the crackpot element very seldom buy their guns through regular retail sources. Only the legitimate sportsman buys that way. And the concealable weapon he buys is registered. Stop the sale of guns to criminals by registering all guns? RIDICULOUS. Didn't we learn any lessons from the days of Prohibition?

May I close by urging not additional gun control legislation, but better enforcement of existing laws, and a speedy return to sanity for a world which has gone Mad.

Sincerely,
John E. Shea
75 N. Second St.
Campbell.

Fire department notes increase in home fires

Is your home fire safe?

Fire strikes more than 500,000 homes a year in the nation, and kills more than 12,000 people. Three-fourths of these fires were the result of carelessness, according to the Campbell Fire Department.

You can reduce the possibility of fire in your home by making a simple check of potential hazards, and removing them.

Here are some tips on how to go about it:

Begin at the top of the house and check the attic. If there are unneeded piles of old newspapers and magazines, discarded clothing, broken furniture or other combustibles, throw them out. These are the kind of things on which fires feed.

Get rid of unneeded combustibles which may be lying around in the cellar. Throw out old newspapers and magazines, and also old paint cans and worn out brushes. Never keep gasoline in the house. If you must keep cans of paint and paint brushes, see that they are kept in tightly closed metal containers.

Check all electrical appliances throughout the house, to see that they are in good condition. Cords that are worn or frayed should be replaced. Electrical repair work should be done by a qualified electrician. When buying new cords or appliances, look for the label or marker of the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. Use only 15 ampere fuses in the fuse box for regular household lighting circuits.

Keep heating and cooking equipment in good working order. At least once a year you should have your heating plant inspected by a qualified heating man.

Matches should be kept away from heat and out of the reach of children. If there are smokers in your house, see that there are plenty of ashtrays scattered about, and empty them often in a safe manner. Remember–waste baskets and trash containers do burn! Be sure your cigarette or cigar is out before you discard it in the ashtray. Never, never smoke in bed.

Ways to be prepared in case of fire:

Your family should have a plan of escape for use in getting out of your home in case of fire. Make sure everyone in the home knows the details of this escape plan. It's a good thing to hold fire drills from time to time so that everyone learns the routine. You should be able to get everyone out of a one-family house in less than a minute.

If you employ a baby sitter, be sure she knows how to get the children out of the house. Tell her that if fire occurs, she should first get the children outside, then call the fire department, and then notify the parents.

Keep the emergency number of your fire department in your telephone directory, or contact the business office of the Campbell Fire Department for a free phone sticker listing the Emergency Fire and Police numbers.

TOP GRADUATE--First Lieutenant Gary J. Ewell (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Ewell of 1283 Lorelei Ct., Campbell is presented a special plaque by Brigadier General William M. Glasgow, Jr., Assistant Commandant of the U.S. Army Engineer School, at Fort Bolvoir, Va. in recognition of his selection as the Distinguished Graduate of the 8th Engineer Officer Basic Course.

Lt. Ewell compiled the highest overall academic average in a class of 104 students, to whom diplomas were awarded.

A 1959 graduate of Las Lomas High School, Walnut Creek, Calif., the Lieutenant received his B.S. degree in 1963 from Stanford University. He holds a doctorate in metallurgy from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Lt. Ewell is married to the former Mary Ruth Boudreau of Needham, Mass.

From the files of The Campbell Press

5 YEARS AGO

Moreland School P.T.A. held a Strawberry Festival, where shortcakes, sundaes, white elephants, homemade candy and a cakewalk were featured.

The headlines of the Campbell Press carried plans for expansion and modernization of Campbell Water Co.; Campbell population topped the 18,000 mark; and the Campbell Little League got under way.

10 YEARS AGO

Campbell High School announced they would have a foreign exchange student for the fall semester and that Sam LoBue had been elected Student Body President for the fall semester.....St. Lucy's held a carnival and barbeque.....and your Editor commented very favorably on the P.G.&E.'s Feather River operation, in his "Out on the Limb" column.

15 YEARS AGO

The front page of your Campbell Press carried the sad news of the passing of Mr. Leslie Kerr, veteran of the Spanish American War, who was largely responsible for our city's incorporation in 1952.

More pleasant news mentioned the Calif. State Softball League's first place race held at Campbell High School and the Country Woman's Potluck Picnic at Montalvo.

Med program gets high rating at WV

West Valley College, with a program in Medical Assisting that has been rated as "superior" by the American Association of Medical Assistants, Inc., has been asked to participate in development of a pilot program for the entire nation.

Dr. Henry Bodner, and Miss Helen Goldman, members of the visitation team of the American Association of Medical Assistants, Approval Program Committee, visited the campus recently to confer with administration officials and with Miss Portia Frederick, instructor in Medical Assisting.

Purpose of the visit was to further examine the West Valley College Medical Assisting curriculum, previously rated "superior" by the association, with a view to incorporating some of the ideas and programs of the West Valley College course into other curricula around the country.

The nationwide study was prompted, Miss Frederick said, by the increasing need for qualified medical assistants, and the need to introduce such training programs into recognized institutions of higher learning, thereby helping eliminate some commercial schools, often of dubious quality, offering short-term courses in medical assisting.

The Approval Program Committee is developing a set of minimum essentials to be presented to the American Medical Association Council on Medical Assisting this year.

Vision kits

A limited supply of new special classroom vision education kits for first through third grade Santa Clara County elementary school teachers are now available from the Santa Clara County Optometric Society, it has been announced by Dr. Allan N. Freid, local society president.

Included in the kit are a series of teacher-directed activities in which students both participate and observe, Dr. Saunders said. Three of the activities permit children to measure their own visual abilities.

In addition to a 10-page teacher's guide, the kit includes a pamphlet, "Teachers Guide to Vision Problems", a bibliography of material on children's vision and a take-home pamphlet for the children, "The ABC's of Children's Vision".

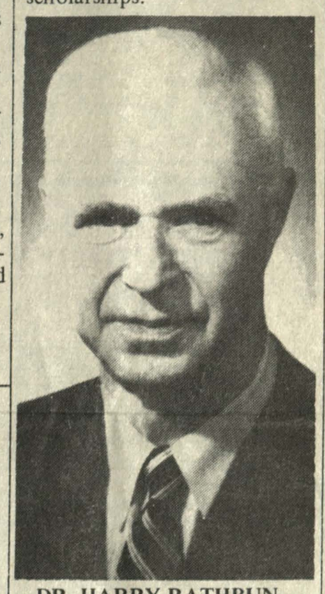
W V. College confers degrees on 450 graduates Friday

The fourth annual Commencement exercises for West Valley College will be held in open air ceremonies on the front steps on the old main building at Campbell Ave. and Winchester Blvd., Friday, June 14, at 8 p.m.

A record graduating class is expected, with some 450 applications for Associate in Arts and Associate in Science degrees already on hand, according to Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college president.

Commencement speaker will be Dr. Harry J. Rathbun, professor emeritus of law, Stanford University, and prominent in business, scientific and labor relations circles.

Class valedictorian will be German-born Waltraud Christa (Trudy) Hussman, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gunther Hussman, 1408 Dentwood Dr., San Jose. Miss Hussman, who has a 3.77 grade point average, came to this country from Fischen, Germany, in 1955. She is the recipient of several scholarships.



DR. HARRY RATHBUN

Dr. Rathbun had a long and distinguished career as an engineer, and business executive, before being admitted to the California Bar in 1929, when he became first an associate professor of law, then a full professor, and since 1959, a professor emeritus of law.

He was born in Mitchell, S. Dakota, in 1894, and came to Stanford University to obtain degrees in mechanical engineering and electrical engineering. He received his law doctorate in 1929.

The Rev. Gerald Amundson, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church, Saratoga, will offer the invocation and benediction at the ceremonies.

Summer recreation schedule includes gymnastic classes

Tumbling, trampoline, vaulting, balance beam and floor exercise. All this adds up to the summer gymnastics program being offered to both boys and girls in the Campbell union school district at the Rolling Hills school this summer.

As a part of the summer recreation program for all school age boys and girls, a series of four sessions will be held for two weeks each starting June 24 for an hour and a half each session, starting at 9 a.m. From 2 to 4 p.m. the gymnastics program will be open for junior and senior high school and college students only. Call 378-3405, ext. 33 for further information. Sign ups now.

Summer recreation programs will be operating during the summer under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Conant at all schools except the Campbell elementary. During the week, daily Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. starting July 12 recreation will be offered in the form of organized games, sports, arts and crafts with special "Hobo Days", watermelon feeds, possible field trips and carnivals planned during the summer, ending August 9.

Instructors for the gymnastics program include Don Peckham, Bob Persky, Doris Nichinaka, Jim Turpin and Joe Sweeney. Each class is divided into groups according to age and ability. A fee of $7.50 will be charged for each enrollment with family rates starting with the third child.

Does poverty pocket exist in county?

New data compiled from Countdown '66, the County-wide census of two years ago, indicates that if Santa Clara County has a poverty pocket, it is in the older, central area of San Jose.

The San Jose central business district is divided into three census tracts. The percentage of households with incomes under $4,000 in these tracts is 53.9, 63.6 and 65.1. Unemployment in these tracts is 16.0, 4.6, and 11.8 per cent, respectively.

The average unemployment for the County is 3.7 per cent with an average of 13.3 per cent of the households having incomes less than $4,000.

Most of the area surrounding San Jose's central business district has unemployment in excess of 10 per cent. 31.9 to 52.1 per cent of the households have incomes less than $4,000.

Four areas in which more than 30 per cent of the households have incomes less than $4,000 are Coyote, Gilroy, Alviso and San Martin.

Gilroy and San Martin also have areas in which unemployment is three times the County average or greater.

ARTISTS MEETING

Stan Wacholz, acrylics artist, will present a demonstration at the regular meeting of the Campbell Artist Guild scheduled for Monday, June 17 at 7:30 p.m. The First National Bank building meeting room is the place. The artists need storage room for their picture screens. Formerly stored in the Campbell Museum, but now the room is being remodeled for classes and the screens must go. Call Virginia Ward, 378-3270 if you have a solution.

Nursery school sessions open

Pre-enrollment for the afternoon fall session of the Congregational Church of Campbell Co-operative Nursery School are now being taken, according to Mrs. Jane Harmer, membership chairman.

The co-op is open to all residents of Campbell and several openings in the afternoon session are still available. The children attend the nursery school between 12:30 and 3 p.m. starting the second week in September. Mothers whose four year old children are enrolled in the nursery school assist twice a month. The school is located at 400 W. Campbell Ave. in the church school rooms. Mrs. Harmer may be reached at 377-6296 for further information.
